Interesting and Informative Article

Our very own trustee, Michael La Civita, is the Communications Director for the Near East Welfare Association and has written an article about refugees which is quite enlightening. aleteia.org/middle-east-christians-as-refugees-what-are-the-facts/

"For I Was a Stranger..."

Recently, we have been hearing about immigrants and refugees in the news. The Catholic Church has a long history of welcoming the stranger in our midst. The United States Conference of Catholic Bishops has a site to share with us Catholic social teaching and updates on this issue. For info, go to justiceforimmigrants.org,

Choice

"If you choose you can keep the commandments," Sirach tells us. God "has set before you fire and water; to whichever you choose, stretch forth your hand" (Sirach 15:15, 16).

This is a great mystery:

God does not control us so completely that we cannot choose our own path. We have certain boundaries, of course, but no one but we can choose our way within those boundaries.

In today's reading from Matthew's Gospel, Jesus reminds us of our freedom and our responsibility for our lives. He calls us to look beyond the words of the commandments, all the way to their meaning. Look beyond the adultery to the selfishness that poisons our love. Look beyond the murder to the anger that eats away at our compassion. Look beyond the perjured testimony to the lies and deception that drive our behavior. Our vocation is to choose life for ourselves, and to choose a path through our part of the world that helps make life possible and more abundant for others as well.

Tú Decides..

"Si tú lo quieres, puedes guardar los mandamientos", nos dice Eclesiástico (Sirácide). Dios "ha puesto delante de ti fuego y agua; extiende la mano a lo que quieras" (Eclo 15:15, 16).

Este es un gran misterio: Dios no nos controla tan completamente que no podemos elegir nuestro propio camino. Es cierto que tenemos límites, pero nadie sino nosotros mismos podemos elegir el camino dentro de esos límites.
